

UNIVERSITY VILLAGE ACADEMIC COMPUTING CENTER

ACCEPTABLE USE OF INTERNET & COMPUTING FACILITIES

Purpose

The University Village Academic Computing Center (UVACC) provides unfiltered access to the Internet as a means of fulfilling its mission to "collect, organize and make accessible informational, educational, recreational, and cultural resources" to meet the changing needs of its users of all ages and cultural and economic backgrounds. The University Village Academic Computing Center views access to the Internet as a privilege of its users, not a right. The Village Authority supports the idea that all members of the community have free and equal access to the entire range of UVACC resources, regardless of content, approach, format, or amount of detail. These rights extend to all users of the UVACC, including minors. The Village Authority is committed to making information available to its users in a variety of formats – from traditional print and audiovisual materials to the latest in electronically accessed materials. The computers offered by UVACC are intended to integrate electronic resources from information networks around the world with UVACC's other resources and, by doing so, provide information beyond the boundaries of its own collection.

Responsibilities of the University Village Academic Computing Center

At present the Internet is an unregulated and rapidly changing medium. It contains a wealth of diverse material that is personally, professionally, and culturally enriching to individuals of all ages, but it also contains materials that may be offensive, controversial, disturbing, illegal, harmful to minors, inaccurate, or incomplete. The University Village Academic Computing Center does not monitor, control, or restrict anyone's access to equipment or to the range of information available within the limits of state and/or federal law. UVACC has no control over information accessed through the Internet and cannot be held responsible for its content. Provision of Internet access by the UVACC does not constitute an endorsement of any particular information contained on the Internet. UVACC shall have no liability for direct, indirect, or consequential damages related to the use of information accessed on the Internet from UVACC equipment. UVACC users use the Internet at their own risk. Therefore, users are encouraged to evaluate the validity of information obtained from the Internet.

Responsibility of Users and Parents of Minors

Individuals must accept responsibility for determining what is or is not appropriate for themselves. The University Village Academic Computing Center upholds and affirms the right of each individual to have access to constitutionally protected materials and also affirms the right and responsibility of parents to determine and monitor their children's use of UVACC materials and resources. A parent or legal guardian shall supervise their children under the age of 18 years at all times during use of computers to access the Internet unless the parent or guardian has signed a waiver that permits Internet use for children without parental supervision. Parents and guardians who wish to limit or restrict the access of their own children must personally oversee their children's use of the Internet and other forms of electronic information. Parents and guardians are encouraged to work closely with their children in the UVACC and particularly on the Internet. Parents are expected to monitor and supervise their children's use of the Internet in selecting material that is consistent with personal and family values and is appropriate for the age and understanding of their children. UVACC does not and cannot provide this monitoring or supervision. Minors who visit the UVACC without a parent or guardian are responsible for their own decisions and behavior and will be denied access to the Internet unless a signed waiver is on file.

In order to use UVACC Internet computers, users must have completed the Internet Registration form. Children under the age of 18 years must have a parent or legal guardian read and sign the Internet Registration form before they will be permitted to access the Internet. The parent or guardian must also verify the minor's age. UVACC staff is available to provide assistance and to help identify age-appropriate website for children accessing the Internet. Internet computers shall not be used for illegal activity, to access illegal materials, or to access materials that by local community standards would be considered obscene. UVACC employees are authorized to take prompt and appropriate actions to enforce the Rules of Conduct and/or to prohibit use by persons who fail to comply with the Internet Acceptable Use Policy.

Please Exercise Caution During Internet Use

Internet users are reminded that:

- Not all sources on the Internet provide accurate, complete, or current information.
- UVACC computer terminals are secure but not private.
- Users should exercise extreme caution about revealing any personal identification information (e.g., name, address, telephone number, e-mail address, social security number, age, or credit card number) over the Internet. Minors should NEVER disclose any personal identification information over the Internet.
- If you receive an e-mail message from a person unknown to you or from an unfamiliar e-mail address, the best and safest policy is to delete it without opening.

- Transmitting and/or receiving obscene materials and/or child pornography is a violation of law and is not permitted under any circumstances. Violation of this rule will subject a patron to be responsible for the disciplinary actions taken by the UVACC authority and result in immediate and permanent loss of UVACC Internet access privileges.
- Minors, whether or not accompanied by a parent or guardian, shall not use computers for any illegal activity, or to access illegal materials, child pornography, obscene materials, or materials "harmful to minors" as currently defined by law. Violations of this rule may subject a patron to be responsible for the disciplinary actions taken by the UVACC authority and will result in immediate loss of UVACC Internet access privileges.
- Installation, downloading, or modification of software is prohibited.
- Users shall respect copyright laws and licensing agreements.
- Users shall not make any attempt to gain unauthorized access to restricted computer files or networks, or to damage or modify computer equipment or software.
- Users are financially responsible for any fees or printing that they may incur from their use of the Internet or computers.
- Users shall sign up in person to use the Internet on a "next available terminal" basis. Terminals may not be "reserved" for other persons and will not be held for persons who are not in the immediate vicinity when their name is called. Telephone reservations will not be taken. - Internet access sessions shall be limited by UVACC staff if deemed necessary.
- Users must end their session and leave the terminal when asked to do so by authorized UVACC-staff.
- UVACC staff may establish the number of Internet access sessions available per day, per user. Such limitations will be dependent on facility-specific demand in order to provide access for the majority of users.
- Users shall respect the privacy of other users and shall refrain from attempting to view or read material being used by others, as well as to censor or comment on what others are viewing.
- The UVACC's computers are set up for optimal usage by a single individual. With the exception of a minor, who must be accompanied by a parent or guardian during Internet access (unless a signed waiver is on file), only one user per computer terminal is permitted.
- Parents may file a waiver with the UVACC which will permit a child to access the Internet without parental supervision. Parents will be held responsible for printing and other charges incurred by their children.
- Computers may be used only for educational, informational and recreational purposes.
- Any activity by a user that disturbs or distracts another user or staff member from his or her own UVACC activity constitutes a violation of reasonable UVACC behavior.

A third offense will result in a permanent loss of Internet access privileges at all UVACC-facilities.
